

Monsieur Jean

By Fog Murray

All eyes will be on young Jean Borotra, the sensational Frenchman, who won the singles tournament of Wimbledon, during the final round of the Davis Cup matches which start today. Having come through the English tournament with flying colors, beating Vincent Richards, Raymond of South Africa, and his teammate, La Costa, in the finals, Borotra's work will be watched with great interest in his matches with the Australians.

Borotra probably improved faster than any tennis player in the world, for only last year he was beaten at Wimbledon in straight sets by B. L. C.

WEDDING AT UNADILLA

Miss Lucella Fluke Becomes Bride of Marvin Clarke.

Unadilla, Sept. 3.—The marriage of Marvin Bundy Clarke of Otsego and Miss Lucella Gladys Fluke of Philadelphia, Pa., occurred at St. Matthew's church, Tuesday evening, September 2, at 8 o'clock. Rev. Yale Lyon performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. George Leo Stanley of Briar Creek, Otsego, accompanied the bride and groom and witnessed the ceremony. William Russ Obituary.
William Osborne Russ of Brooklyn died in a hospital in that city Tuesday morning, September 2, after a week's illness from septic peritonitis, caused by ulcers of the stomach.

Mr. Russ was born at Rensselaerville and was the son of John Scott Russ and Nancy Agnes MacLean Russ. When he was fourteen years of age he went to live with his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Welsh, and his home had since been with them until they moved to Unadilla two or three years ago. The family tie was strong and affectionate and the loss seems very hard, coming but a little more than six weeks later than that of his sister, Mrs. Welsh.

Those who survive are his brother-in-law, William Webb Welsh, and niece, Mrs. R. O. Lewis, and nephew, Webb Russ Lewis, of Unadilla, a sister, Mrs. Lena May MacCain, and niece, Mrs. Arthur Huthwaite, of Brooklyn. Mr. Welsh and Mrs. Lewis have been in Brooklyn since the beginning of Mr. Russ' illness; and they left with the remains on the Erie sleeper from Jersey City, reaching Unadilla via Binghamton at 5:19 this morning. Mrs. MacCain, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Huthwaite and Frank Mapes of Brooklyn and Mrs. Anna Voshage of Athens, came by auto, reaching Unadilla a few hours later.

The funeral will be held in St. Matthew's church Thursday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Yale Lyon will officiate. The burial will be in St. Matthew's church yard, with Masonic committal service. Mr. Russ was a member of Mystic Tie lodge of Union Hill, New Jersey.

Mr. Russ will be sadly missed by those nearest to him in family affection and by many friends besides, who will regret his going in the prime of life and usefulness.

Has Fingers Injured.

Quite a large company went from here to Chenango Lake Labor day. On their return they stopped in South New Berlin to see the ball game between Unadilla and South New Berlin. "Pop" Bell was the pitcher for the home team. South New Berlin won, 3 to 2.

Mr. John Skinner who resides with the family of his daughter, Mrs. A. J. Fairbanks, accompanied them to Chenango Lake Monday and to the ball game. As they were getting into cars to start from South New Berlin, Mr. Skinner's right hand in some way was caught in the car door as it was being closed. Mrs. Skinner is quite an elderly lady and from pain and shock fainted; but was soon revived. Three fingers of her right hand were severely injured, but are getting better rapidly at this writing.

MOTOR CARS IN COLLISION

Overland of Hanco B. Lewis and Ford Coupe of Joseph Maddalone Crash at East Schenectady Corner.

Schenectady, Sept. 3.—Late this afternoon the Overland touring car of Hanco B. Lewis and the Ford coupe of Joseph Maddalone of Maryland came together at the corner of Main and Elm streets and locked together and went off the road into the yard at the side of the street. Fortunately no one was injured and the cars were not badly damaged, the ruined parts being fenders and the like.

Maddalone was about an hour late in reporting for work at the W. M. tower below this village and it was assumed that he was proceeding rapidly. However he says that he was coasting down the street. The Lewis car was proceeding cautiously as the corner is a blind one and approaching the Main street from the side one, a driver is unable to see a car coming from the east. It is believed that a larger sign, warning approaching motorists of the nature of the corner would prevent many accidents at this point.

At the formal opening of the High school on Tuesday about 25 visitors were present. Among the speakers were Attorney James P. Friery and Leo B. CONCERNING THE WEATHER.

The month of August, 1924, in the city of Oneonta had the reputation among citizens who went by their "feeling" and with no accurate figures at hand, of being one of the coldest of that name which ever has been known. How far this is from the fact, is shown by the record kept by the government meteorological station in this city. The mean temperature for the month, this year, was about 68.8 degrees, which is six-tenths of a degree hotter than in 1923, and 1.4 degrees above 1922. In fact during the past ten years there have been three colder Augusts, six hotter and one just the same—that of 1919. The minimum for the month was 40 degrees, or two degrees higher than last year, while the maximum of 96 degrees on the 6th was only surpassed in 1916 and 1918.

During last month the rainfall totaled 5.05 inches, the normal for the month being about 4.8 inches. There was no big rainfall during the month, the greatest being .39 of an inch on the 25th, the remainder of the rain being scattered through 11 other days.

Altogether it appears that August was a pretty satisfactory month, and that the backwardness of crops was not due to the midsummer month not doing its best, but to the colder weather, light rainfall and generally unsatisfactory climatic conditions during the three months previous. "One swallow does not make a summer," nor does the one month of August.

ONE MAN'S LIBRARY.

Among lists of "books you should read" the one submitted by Hal Wimberly, a member of the Georgia legislature, should not be overlooked. Three books are enough, says Representative Wimberly. "Read the Bible. It teaches you how to act. Read the hymn book. It contains the finest poetry ever written. Read the almanac. It shows you how to figure out what the weather will be."

There will be general agreement about the first of these recommendations, at least. Many people of well developed literary taste may not agree with him about the hymn book, even while acknowledging its improving qualities from a moral and religious point of view. As for the almanac—fashions, a almanac are fascinating reading, a critic may object that people who devote themselves to such publications, too, occasionally don't always get ahead so rapidly as those who take their weather from the newspaper or radio bulletin.

Let it be added, as a sidelight on this interesting three-piece library, that its advocate is one of the lawmakers who defeated a bill the other day which would have allowed counties, school districts or municipalities to establish public libraries, either by taxation or donation. Can it be that the whole Georgia legislature agrees with Mr. Wimberly?

OVERCROWDED CHICKENS.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is getting after people who make chickens uncomfortable. In New York city the other day, in a case pressed by a sister of the late John Jacob Astor, three drivers of express trucks were fined because they brought chickens from New Jersey terminals to Manhattan in unventilated and overcrowded vans.

This, as any humane person will admit, is no more than right. It illustrates the progress made, within a generation, in humanitarian work of many kinds, starting with human beings and then extending to dumb brutes. There is a growing recognition that all life is one, however distant the relationship may appear in some cases; that it is cruel to let any creature suffer needlessly, and that brutality or indifference to animal suffering brutalizes humanity itself.

GARRATTSVILLE HOUSE BURNS

Home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Card Burns, which family is away, was destroyed by fire about noon Monday. The fire, which was of unknown origin, started in an unused back kitchen and had gained considerable headway when discovered by neighbors, who gave the alarm.

The news was quickly spread over the telephone. Had it not been for early assistance the home of A. M. Holdridge and the office of the State road company would have been burned, as there is only a driveway between the houses.

The family was not at home when the fire occurred. Mr. Card works on the State road and his wife was visiting her parents.

Nearly everything they had was consumed and the loss is a severe one to them, as there was no insurance.

The house was owned by Nancy Wheeler and it is not known whether it was insured or not.

Midshipman Rederman on Vacation.

Midshipman Karl J. Rederman of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., is on vacation in Oneonta and will spend the month of September at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Rederman.

Midshipman Rederman has just returned from a practice voyage to Europe, upon which he visited London and the Wholly expedition, Paris, and Brussels.

Dr. C. J. Rederman of New York City was also a guest and visitor to the city.

HOME AND NURSERY TO OPEN

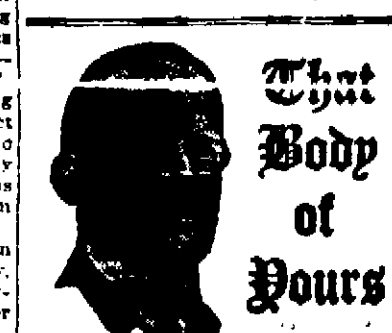

New Enterprise of Family Social Work Association Meeting Completion—Financial Campaign Opens September 8.

Following is the latest report from the executive secretary of the Family Social Work Association regarding the new lodging house and day nursery which is shortly to be opened on Ponda avenue:

Rapid progress is being made with the equipment of the day nursery and lodging house for girls, which, under the auspices of the Family Social Work Association, is soon to be opened. The house, at 23 Ponda avenue, is a well built and commodious and will be made into a playground for the children. The decorations are new and attractive and the furniture has been carefully selected and planned for its purpose. From fifteen to twenty children of pre-school age can be accommodated in the nursery and they will be under the care of a well trained woman. Plans are being made for some special recreational work and story telling and it is felt that even those children who constitute a special problem can be made happy. Children will be cared for from eight in the morning until five-thirty in the evening, and a hot dinner will be served in the mid-afternoon of the day. The fee is twenty-five cents per day for each child. This fee covers only a part of the cost of care, but the association is anxious that the mothers who use the nursery shall feel that the institution is a co-operative enterprise in which they have a share.

The rooms for girls will also be attractive and homelike, and the treatment will be arranged to cover solely the costs of maintenance. The directors of the association wish it clearly understood that the house is not to be a home for delinquent girls, who cannot be cared for there, but that it is in the truest sense a home in which a girl who is compelled to leave her own home to work in this city can have freedom, comfort and some special recreational advantages.

Miss Blake, executive secretary of the association, has already taken up her residence in the house where she is overseeing the equipment. The application lists for the nursery, which it is hoped can be put into operation September 15, are now open. It would be well for any mother who wishes to enter her children, or who wishes any further information, to get in touch with Miss Blake as soon as possible, either at the nursery or at the Community house, as the number of children who can be cared for is limited and children will be accepted in the order of their application. The annual financial campaign of the Family Social Work Association opens September 8. The funds for starting the nursery and lodging house were supplied only through the special efforts of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, and if the work is to prosper it must have community support. The new activity of the organization is concrete and fills a great need. It is the hope of the association that it will be well supported.

BRAINS AND SLEEP.

Someone has said that the only people who sleep well are the ones without brains, because not having brains, they don't think, and as they don't think, they haven't anything to keep them awake.

He points out that people of low mentality, or who are not keen in thought, or stupid people, all go to sleep easily and remain asleep a long time.

Children require a lot of sleep, healthy children at that, but it is pointed out that in their case their brains are not fully grown, and so they sleep easily.

Now, what about this?

Well, it is certainly true that mental defectives do go to sleep easily. Another peculiar thing is that very fat people, and thin or anemic people, also sleep a great deal.

In the case of fat people the argument works both ways. They are fat because they sleep so much, do not move around enough, or they sleep or are lazy, because they are fat.

However, where there is a large bulk like this, blood is needed in the fat parts of the body. This may mean that there will be less for the brain.

Anemic or thin people are so weak that they have less blood in their brains than others.

Now, what about people who are not stupid, nor fat, nor anemic, and yet are good sleepers?

Yes, a healthy, strong man or woman will sleep soundly, and for the reason of this it is necessary for their particular bodies.

A mechanic working at his regular job, a business man at his daily office work, a teacher or professional man doing the usual routine work daily, have usually no difficulty in sleeping.

When they do not sleep well it is not because they are so brainy, but because they may be overworking their minds too much, or perhaps outside their regular work.

Gladsone, Britain's famous statesman, when not "interested" in the speech or debate going on in the House of Commons, would go to sleep for five to twenty minutes.

Why?

Simply because he was not interested.

If you can let everything go for a while, and not be interested in anything at all for the time being, you will go off to sleep all right. This is why the sleep of a man who is not interested in anything is so sound.

Trivial—What? What?

Trivial, the shredded wheat cereal. It is used in place of ordinary bread, and is much more nutritious and is more easily digested.

THE GUIDE POST—

BY Henry and Tertius VanDyke

SELF-GLORIFICATION

He did according to his will, and magnified himself.—Daniel 8:4.

A popular occupation of our day is magnifying ourselves.

It is a sort of endeavor to create an atmosphere of self-respect which we do not feel by talking about our jobs and ourselves in resounding terms.

For example, the other day I saw a poster in a window.

It showed a stalwart and handsome young man in overalls with a wrench in his hand, and bore in large letters the inscription:

"The Plumber Protects the Health of the Nation."

Well, the only trouble with that sign so far as I was concerned was that it promptly reminded me of a plumber who lived in a house I know of because, as I had the disagreeable task of pointing out to him, he ran the drain pipe from the kitchen sink uphill.

A good plumber protects the health of the nation, oh, yes—but this business of sweeping up the good, bad, or indifferent workers in any calling and praising them in the mass is sheer bunk.

Every honorable calling has its op-opportunities of service. But to magnify the job apart from the qualifications of the workman only lends comfort to the pride of slackers and shirkers and renders them intolerable to their honest fellow workmen.

Besides, it's a lie of the most subtle kind.

BIGGEST FAIR EVER

Plans of Central New York Management, Coupled With Heavy Early Entries, Assure Banner Season

NEW SCHOOL DEPARTMENT

Free Roof Garden Attractions With 11,000 Hill, Three Excellent Hares Every Day With Purses Totalling $5,000, And Exhibition of Livestock, Farm Produce, Horticulture, Arts, Jewelry, Flowers and Domestic Manufactures, Flowers and School Work With Thousands of Former $3,000 and $5,000 Bidders, Crowded Midway Among Attractions.

The biggest fair ever seems assured for Oneonta this fall for exceptional plans are being made by the management of the Central New York fair and already a great deal of interest has been manifested about this section of the state as a result of the special inducements which are offered to exhibitors, to horsemen, and then of course to the entire population which considers the Oneonta fair as the one big event of the year. For where else can one see so much in such a short time or in such small space?

So on the calendar of 1924 the dates of September 15 to 19 have been circled for this big event, and if any have neglected this move it should be taken at once. Set aside that week or at least one or two days, for the Oneonta fair and have one of the greatest times of your life.

You know the difficulty of telling your friends all about the Oneonta fair which you have attended the job of telling you about the great things in store this year is considerably larger.

While the drawing feature of the Oneonta fair is perhaps the pleasure which crowds every day, still no less attractive to many is the educational side of the fair. Not only may one seek out a wealth of information which is offered through the exhibitions, but he is seeing new things; he really needs to attend the fair to be up-to-date.

Fun is to be found at every turn at the fair this year. The roof garden attractions, which were noted in The Star some time ago when first booked, are all of exceptionally high order and the most expensive ever booked for this section of the state, a $4,000 bill.

Balloon ascensions will be featured again this year, the management feeling that the particular charm of the huge spheroid sphere with the parachute drop is the greatest attraction of the kind.

Keeton's band of this city has been secured for each day. The midway is to be well filled with tents of exhibitors and with entertainment features. The larger concessions have been let for some time, the large ones to those who held them last year, and the demand for space is in excess of that for any previous year in the history of the fair.

There will be no objectionable features at the Oneonta fair for any one of the officers attending yesterday that even more than ordinary precautions are being taken to eliminate anything questionable.

While it is still early for racing entries, they usually being made just before horses are shipped, a large number of entries have been received, and a considerable number of absolute entries. The purses for this year will total $5,500, distributed among three races for the four racing days.

On Tuesday will be run the 2:30 pace, the 2:12 pace, and the 2:18 trot; on Wednesday the 2:19 pace, the 2:14 pace, and the 2:29 trot; on Thursday the 2:25 pace, the 2:17 pace, and the 2:15 trot; on Friday the free-for-all, with a purse of $1,000, and the 2:22 trot, and the 2:20 pace will be run.

No postponements will be made. If any program be held over due to weather conditions, a double program will be given on the day following, the entries close on Tuesday, September 9.

As was done last year, there will be no band parade, but those awards have been changed over to cover special prizes for the Grand Livestock parade, which is held on Friday, the last day of the fair, at 1 o'clock in front of the grandstand.

A considerable sum of money has been expended this summer in betterments to the fair grounds. The entrance has been considerably improved, an asphalt top having been placed there, and all of the fences have been repainted. Other repairs and betterments too numerous to mention have also been completed.

Certainly the greatest improvement is that of the track, which has been completely remade and is now in better condition than ever before, and it is thought that considerably better time than has been made previously will be attained this year.

Nearly $6,000 in Prizes.
Between $5,000 and $6,000 are offered as prizes by the Oneonta fair in the various departments. The premium list has been published and is being distributed from the office of the secretary, C. D. Townsend, and at the Wilbur National bank in this city.

The premium list has been revised for this year and brought finally up to date. The list is being distributed and is being distributed from the office of the secretary, C. D. Townsend, and at the Wilbur National bank in this city.

COOLIDGE CARAVAN TO VISIT ONEONTA

The Coolidge caravan, a corps of Republican campaign orators which will start from Pittsburgh, Pa., on Sept. 19 and cross the continent in the interest of the Republican ticket, will visit Oneonta, probably on Sept. 12.

Colonel Lafayette B. Gleason of Delhi will be in charge of the arrangements for the trip, which will be made by automobile. The caravan plans call for the first night stop in Albany, where Senator Wadsworth will speak.

The second day will take the caravan along the line of the New York Central to Utica, and Oneonta will be the stopping place on the third night.

On Saturday, Sept. 13, the caravan will come up the B. & O. to Oneonta and make Kingston the night stop, going to New York on Sunday, from New York the party will follow the Lincoln highway to the coast.

A BIG ONEONTA INDUSTRY

What State Normal School Means to Our City—Growth of Professional Training of Teachers.

The members of the Kiwanis club listened with great interest to a talk at yesterday's luncheon by E. E. Fitzelle on "Oneonta's School Industry." The industry referred to is the State Normal school which he said has better than forty teachers and is conducted at a cost to the state of better than $100,000 yearly. The attendance during the winter is about five hundred, and the summer attendance is considerably larger. The students spent from twelve to fifteen dollars a week in the city.

They represent families and friends of a number of about six thousand, and as the sun never sets on Oneonta Normal school, the city is being praised all over the world and each one of them boasts of the beauties of Oneonta.

Prof. Fitzelle traced the development of teachers' training, as conducted in Illinois, through the various phases in this country, including the monitory and methodical plans. The monitory plan was to instruct pupils, who acted as monitors and passed the instruction on to the other pupils and the cost was only about $2.25 per pupil per annum. The cost was paid by small taxes and the plan was a transition to the present plan, the taxes being gradually increased. The cost in the present system is nearly a hundred dollars per pupil per annum.

The plan of general taxation for educational purposes was strongly fought against by many influential people. Massachusetts was in early days a leader in educational matters and Harvard college was founded in 1636. The state did not maintain its lead and later advancement in general education in the state was largely through the efforts of Horace Mann, who was well acquainted with the Prussian system. The first Normal school was started at Lexington July 3, 1831, with only three pupils.

The first Normal school in this state was started in Albany in 1844. A school called the ragged school, using methods brought over from Toronto, was started in 1890 and in 1896 became a Normal school. The Wadsworth school, started in Genesee about 1842, because the Genesee Normal school in 1879. From that date to 1882 there were seven other Normal schools established in the state, one of them the Oneonta Normal, and that date should be considered an important one in Oneonta's history.

The speaker said that in 1840 seventy-five per cent of teachers were men, but at the present time there are only about eight per cent.

The course in the Oneonta Normal was formerly four years, was reduced to two and is now three years. The three-year course is in advanced work and a diploma obtains a three-year credit in many colleges. The school is equivalent to a junior college.

Guests at the luncheon were Rotarian Arthur Seibert of this city, Paul H. Linaberry of Exeter, N. H., Arden M. Jones of Norwich and C. P. Field of Little Rock, Ark.

Bellinardine Wins Straight Heats.
Bellinardine, one of the string of S. G. Camp of this city, captured the 2:15 pace at the Ponda fair on Monday in straight heats and ran a very pretty race. No races were held Tuesday due to the rain, but other horses of Mr. Camp are entered for the rest of the week.

Bellinardine and The Peter Pan are entered for the State fair at Syracuse, and other horses will be entered at Cooperstown.

MOTHERS' CLUB REOPENS

First Meeting of the Branch Largest Attendance—Enjoyable Program Headed.

The Mothers' club of this city held its first fall meeting in the parlors of the First Methodist church yesterday afternoon. It was a large attendance and a great deal of interest manifested on the part of the members.

The club was addressed by Mrs. Charles Delong who took as her topic "The Fourth Problem of the School child" developing a number of helpful as well as interesting thoughts along this line. She reminded the mothers present that the most common ailments found among school children are due to the digestive system, hearing and eyesight. In some cases malnutrition enters in, with the inevitable result that children thus affected are unable to progress in their studies and also the appearance of the child is not healthy. The advent of the school year and the physical health of the child is a matter of great importance and the result has been a marked improvement in the scientific standing of the pupils.

Aside from this talk another enjoyable feature of the program was the group of French songs rendered by the Misses Catherine and Margaret Clark, who were accompanied by their mother Mrs. Herbert Clark. Mr. and Mrs. Clark and their daughters are visitors in this city from Albany.

Much interest was expressed that Mrs. Arthur Seibert, who is to have charge of the club, was unable to do so on account of illness.

JOINT ROTARY GATHERING

Cooperstown, Norwich and Cobleskill to Join Local Rotary Club for Ladies' Night Entertainment at Country Club.

The Cooperstown, Norwich and Cobleskill Rotary clubs will join with Oneonta Rotary in a ladies' night entertainment to be held at the Oneonta Country club this afternoon and evening, and it is expected that fully 200 will be present. Following the sports of the afternoon a buffet dinner will be served at the club, followed by a dance.

Besides the delegations from the other clubs and the entire strength of the local club, it is hoped that District Governor Clarence Williams and his Rotary-Ann will attend the gathering.

Golf matches for the ladies and for the men, cards, and other contests, have been arranged to begin at 2 o'clock and not an idle moment is anticipated until after the dance, which will follow the dinner.

M. G. Keenan of this city is in charge of the arrangements, and a number of novel features are promised among the entertainment acts of the evening.

ABOUT ALL WE GET

About all we get out of life is satisfaction, comfort and peace of mind.

The one thing that brings all three of these in one is a man's own home.
It may be ever so humble but so long as it is his, that's enough.

Be a King— Own a Palace

Every man has royal blood in his veins—and may be a king any time he chooses.

How? Easy!

If ever a man is king, it is when he owns the roof over his head and the ground beneath his feet.

We have some moderate priced homes that are real palaces. Let us show you through.

But Eddie Sticks On!

The Prince of Wales seems to be having a lot better luck with his riding now. Maybe American horses are tamer, after all, than the British. Any way, his highness managed to stick in the saddle when he participated in an informal polo game at William R. Grace's country place at Old Westbury, L. I. Reason you don't see "Eddie" is that he saw the photographer first and shied aside.
